

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1745.

the AUTHOR of the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

IN perusing the Gazetteers of the 4th and 11th Inst. I observe a Letter from a Person, who says, he has seen a Manuscript Pamphlet, proving, That a Harbour opening in to the Downs, near Sandown Castle, may be made; which would be much better, safer, and more Commodious in respect, than that of Dunkirk ever was.

A Harbour near the Downs is absolutely necessary, cannot be denied; every Person (acquainted with the Downs, and the adjacent Coasts) have long since desired such a Harbour. I am surprised to find that the Pamphlet makes no mention of Ramsgate, but seems to be for granted, that Sandwich is the only Place fit for a Harbour; and lays down, as received Matter of Fact, the Importance of the Situation, Healthiness of the Place, Fitness of the Ground, Plenty and cheapness of Materials near the Spot, Depth of Water, of the Tides, Plenty of Back-Water, and Convenience for Building and Docking Ships; when it is known, that Sandwich has none of these Pro-

Situation of Sandwich is very improper for a Harbour, for the following important Reasons.

1. Having no convenient Outlet for Ships bound Westward, they must lie Wind-bound with many Days.

2. The Inlet is as inconvenient to receive Ships as they are detained in the Downs, bound to the Westward by contrary Winds, and stormy Weather; for Ships Anchor starts, or Cables give way, they drive past the Harbour before the Ship can be put in a Position to put for the Harbour.

3. The Ground, it is nothing more than a loose Sand, by no Means a proper Foundation to build Pier and Wharves; besides which, all outwardly Winds bring up heavy Seas, which will always endanger the Ships being blown up.

4. Not well acquainted with Sandwich, but never saw Materials near the Place necessary for building such a Harbour, which is far from Plenty or Cheapness.

5. The Depth of Water, it is all to be made.—The Tides will, probably, be one Means of making a Bar, by reason of an Eddy; which will be occasioned by the Outset of the Harbour meeting with the back-fets along Shore.

6. Back-Waters are required for this Harbour, they must be let in without cutting thro' the Land near the Harbour; which, besides being attended with infinite Expence, will be of very little Use, where the Tide is proposed to be, at all Times of the Tide, at the Mouth of the Harbour. For Instance, Yarmouth has Plenty of Back-Water; as likewise Tinmouth Haven, Ostend, Konigsberg, Riga, and Narva; notwithstanding, they are all Bar Places, and, consequently, may, after all the Expence, be liable to the same; more especially, as it lays open to many Ships which set on the Shore, and bring in a great

Harbour of Ramsgate has an exceeding good Situation, Ships bound to the Westward may sail from the Harbour with all Winds which will carry them from the Harbour.

The Inlet is equally good for all Ships lying in the Downs, detain'd by contrary Winds, or put from the Harbour by Stress of Weather.

The Soil of Ramsgate is well known to be of hard Sand, and, consequently, the most proper Foundation for a Pier; the former of which is (as already said) the natural Soil of Ramsgate.

7. We well know that there is already (without any Expence) a sufficient Depth of Water at Ramsgate, for Merchant Ships, of almost any Burden; and likewise for Back-Waters at Ramsgate, the Ground being level. Docks, Launches, and all Conveniences, may be very easily made at Ramsgate; which cannot be said of Sandwich without very great Expence.

8. These Considerations it is very plain, that Ten Thousand Pounds will go as far in the building a Pier at Ramsgate, as Three times that Sum at Sandwich; there being no Comparison between the Usefulness of the one and the other.

FOREIGN AFFAIR.

Turin, January 26. The last Advices we have from Genoa and the Riviera inform us, that the Spaniards were not yet advanced any farther, than Oneille and Loran; where they seem to be settling themselves for some Time, probably, in Expectation of their Horse, and the rest of their Infantry, from Savoy.

HOME PORTS.

Portsmouth, February 12. This Morning came to Spit-head his Majesty's Ships the Maidstone, Capt. Rogers, and the Hector, Capt. Leake, from the Downs, with many Merchant Ships under their Convoy; and just now came in Sight five Dutch Men of War from the Downs.

Deal, February 12. Wind S. E. by S. Remain his Majesty's Ships and East India Ships as per last. This Morning arrived the Swift Privateer, Captain Hudson, from a Cruise, and has brought in two Prizes; one laden with Wine, and the other with Coffee and Tea, but can't send their Names this Post.

Gravesend, February 12. Passed by the D-lwar, Jolly, from Scanderoon; the Anna Beweda, Lolasco, from Morlaix; the Katherine, Gaden, from Viana; the Britannia, Howlaton, from Stangate Creek; and the Dispatch, Hall, from Figuera.

LONDON.

We learn by private Letters from Petersburg, that besides 12,000 Men granted by the Czars, to his Britannick Majesty, 20,000 more are to march in the Spring, for the Service of the Maritime Powers; in Consideration of which, her Imperial Majesty is to receive an annual Subsidy of 500,000 Rubles, during the Continuance of the War.

The Berlin Gazette, of February 2, gives a pompous Account of the Retreat of the Austrians out of Silesia, and out of the County of Glatz; adding, that they were retired into the Mountains of Moravia, and had cut down a vast Quantity of Wood to hinder the Prussians from pursuing them.

They write from Cologne, that the Hanoverian Troops quartered in Westphalia, under the Command of General Somersfeld, had begun their March for the Rhine, as had also the Dutch Troops under General Smiffart; and it was believed, when the whole Army of the Allies was assembled, it would be twice as strong as that of M. Maillebois.

The French King has declared the Duke of Modena, the Prince of Campo Florido, the Conde de Montijo, and the Duke de Scotti, Knights of the Holy Ghost, and has sent them the Collar and Ribband of the Order by a Courier; but the Military Promotion that was expected, is put off.

We learn from the Hague, that some Proposals of Peace have been lately talk'd of there; according to which, the House of Lorrain is to be restor'd to its Patrimony; the Infant Don Philip is to have Tuscany; and all that the Spaniards have in Flanders is to be yielded to Great Britain. This Plan is much talk'd of at the Spanish Ambassador's, but is not said to gain much Credit any where else.

The following Matters from Newfoundland are taken, and carried into Vigo; viz. Capt. Witty, of Dartmouth; Capt. Gaden, of Pool; Capt. Holman, of Dartmouth; Capt. Shapton, of Bideford; and Capt. Tren, of Topsham.

English Usquebaugh

THE Importers and Advertisers of IRISH USQUEBAUGH, they sell at 28 Shillings per Gallon, having been lately gently lavish in their Commendations of it, and endeavouring to insinuate, with equal Modesty and Truth, that it is something so peculiarly Hibernian in this Competition, as it is impossible to prepare it in any Part of the World as at Dublin or Drogheda.

At the Desire of several Gentlemen, who look upon Peculiarity to consist rather in Price than Excellence, in order to do Justice to the Produce and Manufacture of our own Country, these Importers and Advertisers are oblig'd to answer the following Queries:

Whether the Distilling Trade has not been much improved in England than in Ireland?

Whether in the whole Composition of their Irish Usquebaugh there is a single Ingredient, which is not to be had in England, as at their favourite Places Dublin or Drogheda?

And if the above Improvement has been made, has it not been made in Distillery, and we have the finest Saffron in the World? Plenty and Excellence of every other requisite Ingredient. Why may we not make as fine Usquebaugh as at other above-mentioned Places?

While their Answer is preparing, that an Appeal be before the Publick, as well as before these interested Men, a London Distiller, who desires no other Recommendation of his Usquebaugh than what may relate to the Trial, begs Leave to inform the Nobility and Gentry, that his Warehouse is open'd opposite to Garraway's Coffee-house, Exchange-Alley, where (for Ready Money) is to be sold, a large Parcel of English Usquebaugh, Customed at 14 s. per Gallon.

Where also may be had, Citron Water, not inferior to the Foreign, being made of the finest Citrons that could be purchased at a reasonable Price; fine Spirits of Saffron at 16 s. per Gallon; Water, Spirits of Cinnamon, Spirits of Orange, Tansey, and fine Ratafia, at 10 s. per Gallon; Mint, Spirits of Caraway, at 8 s. per Gallon.
